WELCOME TO THE TORONTO SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

EDUCATION HOUSE

You're holding this book because you took an interest in us — and I want to sincerely thank you for that. It's because I'm so proud of the strides Toronto School of Management (TSoM) has made in a small amount of time since its inception in 2017.

We treat our community like a family, from staff to students. There are people from all walks of life at TSoM, people from different corners of the world — with big visions and grand plans to experience living the Canadian dream and secure a future for themselves, their families, and even their communities. Throughout these years I have watched TSoM develop into an international institution delivering in-demand programs with strong industry partners — and a diverse group of alumni doing things we couldn't be more proud of.

Though COVID-19 has shaken much of the world, our spirits remain steadfast. The resolve to deliver strong, in-demand education has never been more priority than a time like now, where we must recalibrate and adjust to a new way of living, working, and playing. With hybrid flexible (HyFlex) learning model, we made sure that we have the right practices in place in terms of health and safety.

As rapidly as we have grown as an institution, we've also earned the reputation of being a caring, committed community of educators, staff, and students. We take pride in our culture of care. We want to nurture the commitments we make at TSoM, which is to make sure each student is equipped with the tools and support needed to embark on a new chapter of their lives in an evolving world — whether it's a question about your co-op, the best library to go to or how to deal with rentals, no question is too big or small for our staff and faculty.

We deliver results through quality programs such as business, hospitality & tourism, and accounting, to programs in big data, digital marketing, cybersecurity — all of which are taught by our experienced faculty members, who are experts in their fields. The narrative of a continuous pursuit of knowledge is common at TSoM. Ambition is part of the fabric of our community, and while we have the experience to demonstrate how far it can go, we want to make sure you do, too.

Welcome to a new chapter of your journey. We're glad you're here.

WELCOME TO TORONTO, ONTARIO

Study, live, and thrive in the heart of the world's most diverse city.

Toronto itself is a word that originates from the Indigenous Mohawk word "Tkaronto," meaning "the place in the water where the trees are standing," which is said to refer to the wooden stakes that were used as fishing weirs in the narrows of local river systems by the Haudenosaunee and Huron-Wendat Indigenous communities.

We acknowledge that Toronto is on traditional unceded territory of many nations, including the Mississaugas of the Credit, the Anishnabeg, the Chippewa, the Haudenosaunee and the Wendat peoples and is now home to many diverse First Nations, Inuit and Métis peoples. TSoM and its community has settled on this land and recognizes the importance of respecting the voices and history of all Indigenous communities.

Fast forward to now, you probably heard about this place by more recent names – T.O., The 6ix, The Big Smoke, or the most multicultural city in the world. TSoM has within its name, one of the greatest reasons to study here: the city itself. The opportunities here are as diverse as the people, with a range of industries to choose from.

We are proud to be nestled right in the heart of a global community within Canada's business and cultural hub. The diversity of the city represents the diversity of TSoM, and it's easy to see why people from all walks of life, ethnicities, and countries settle here.

Toronto: A (Multi)cultural Hub

Toronto is one of Canada's most famous cities, known for its vibrant atmosphere and its ever-welcoming borders to people from all walks of life. The city has paved the way in placing diversity and equity as its top priorities. Toronto has become the symbol of evolution and culture. As it continues to grow and keep up with modernization, the city has never lost touch of its multicultural foundation.

A city embedded with rich cultures.

In Toronto, you'll find people from almost everywhere in the world, home to over 250 ethnicities present in the city. Along with this diverse population is the celebration of their respective cultures—Toronto is known for many cultural, artistic, and progressive festivities such as the Pride Week, the Fête de la Musique or World Music Day, AFROFEST, and so much more.

You'll also encounter local businesses from sectors such as food and retail infused with strong cultural influence from their home countries. That makes Toronto one of the best places to explore your palate, as the city offers a vast range of international delicacies.

It's a top spot for tourist destinations.

The city is a combination of contemporary and classical aesthetics, making it a must-see destination for every person who likes recreation, the arts, sports, among many others. Speaking of sports—Toronto has teams in 7 major leagues, meaning sports fan culture here is unlike anywhere else in the world. In fact, the Raptors 2019 NBA Championship win had one of the largest, most memorable parades in the city with crowds estimated between one and two million people rallying in victory through Toronto's streets.

Some landmarks—like the CN Tower, the Royal Ontario Museum, High Park, Rogers Centre, St. Lawrence Market, to name a few—have occasional, seasonal and year-round events. Almost every corner takes you to a different cultural setting. There's always something new to come back to for the city's growing number of visitors and residents.

A place to study & explore

Concrete jungle, but some hidden paradise.

Despite it being known as a city, Toronto is full of outdoor activities for go-getters who love basking under the sun. The city offers picturesque views of natural attractions such as the Toronto Islands, the Scarborough Bluffs, High Park, and Rouge Park. Visitors can enjoy a seemingly endless number of open-air activities, be it for family or for active hobbies.

Toronto is the centre of (Canadian) action.

As the province of Ontario's capital, Toronto is the central hub for education and career opportunities not only for Torontonians, but also for aspiring students and professionals across the globe. The city continues to grow as a leader and one of the best places to work and live in. Toronto's Growth Plan (2019) suggests a boost of around 1.72 million jobs in the City of Toronto by 2041.

The Education House

Toronto School of Management is located within The Education House, a 35,000 square foot landmark space complete with international-standard facilities and equipment. Located at a prime spot in Toronto, this century-old building has retained its classic architecture and character without compromising modernity; its location also offers accessibility to various city landmarks and other essential centres.

The facilities include newly renovated classrooms, a state-of-the-art auditorium, modernized computer labs, and recreational spots for students such as student lounges, a café managed by TSoM's own students, and so much more.

Meet Vivian.

She's a digital and social media manager hailing from Brazil. Ask her about her favorite thing about this city, and it is how much Augusta St. reminds her of home. When she arrived in Canada two years ago, she gravitated there almost instantly - the hustle and bustle of small shops and open markets are like home away from home. With a business degree from Brazil, she worked with her father, where she would help him run day-to-day company operations.

With the dream of independence and upgrading her business endeavours, she decided to pursue a Diploma in Digital Marketing Specialist Co-op at

#TSoMTip

"Networking is very important in Canadian market. I was recommended by a friend in the tech company - I interned for three months and was onboarded as a full-time employee!"

Vivian Nunes

Brazil

TSoM because it was so versatile.

Now Vivian works with iRestify, a company she applied to through TSoM. She joined the team as a co-op student, and started working with the company organically full-time. And because it's a start-up, a lot of international students find that they grow with the companies they divest time and energy into as one of its earliest members.

From social media to being able to code and develop real sites, today Vivian is able to apply everything she learned.

CAPSTONE

Bring a passion project to life. It's another way to do what you love – and do it well.

A capstone project comes in a form of investigative project, a new business plan, an idea for a solution for existing problems. It marries theory and practical application in a way that fits you best.

A capstone project allows you to apply your curriculum in a way that solves a specific problem, or through a project. This is designed in a way to encourage building passion projects around an idea, usually from a field that students would like to pursue professionally.

The capstone project has a key differentiating factor compared to internships: A presentable form of your research and end project is the final step. From designing an app to creating a business plan or even filming an announcement, the presentation has to be effective.

Since this is not intended to be group work, the capstone project gives you autonomy and individual freedom with the way you execute your project, supported by experienced, professional mentors in that respective field that equip you for success.

Meet Davinder "Nikky" Kaur

From India, Nikky was on the hunt for an institute that offered the right blend of practicality and theory in business.

When an agent told her about TSoM, its award-winning faculty, programs, and amazing location in Canada made perfect sense as her next move. When she arrived and saw the diversity in not only the city of Toronto, but the college staff as well, she felt like she belonged immediately.

Nikky has a passion for singing, and started to get curious about the ways she could fuel a project with this passion. The capstone was one of her best experiences - at a time where traditional internships were

capstone project brought to light her ability to tie in her program, passions, and potential all in one place.

With the help of a faculty mentor to guide her through the project, she started a project that continues to last: TSoM Got Talent. In a beautiful full-circle, Nikky was able to bring students a similar opportunity: to showcase their talents.

From the early stages of SWOT analysis, to sound engineering, budgeting and set management, Nikky was single-handedly able to create and launch the college's first talent show - prizes and all.

Davinder "Nikky" Kaur

"Do the capstone project. TSoM is a hub of opportunities from start to end. I'm so glad I did the capstone because it gave me hands-on experience."

ACADEMIC PATHWAYS

#TSoMTip

"Some of my favourite memories were going to different parks in the area for picnics, a trip to Amazon to witness how distribution lines work, and networking events. Getting involved with events, doing good in school, and networking will open opportunities tremendously."

Meet Melanie.

She's been here since day one. A Mexican who grew up in the USA, Melanie has always wondered about moving to study in Canada and meet those "nice" Canadian neighbours of hers. Curious, she came to the country and enrolled at TSoM, knowing she'd get the best of urban life and nature, given the school's prime location in the city of Toronto.

As one of the first students at TSoM with just a class of five, Melanie graduated from her program recently. A co-op and academic pathway success story since the college's infancy, Melanie started by interning as a marketing coordinator. She is now a full-time Regional Manager for a team of five at a Canadian-based educational agency.

Inspired by the college's growth and her own, her academic pursuits didn't stop at TSoM. She plans on going for the gold with TSoM's Academic Pathway program by acquiring a degree through our partners at Yorkville University.

She calls her experience at TSoM a life-changing one. The knowledge she acquired through her courses, faculty, and staff propelled her to grow to what she is right now. When Melanie thinks about her time at TSoM, it's one that contributed to her life immensely, not only as a professional but also personally, impacted by each person - from the student-run TSoM Café, to her professors.

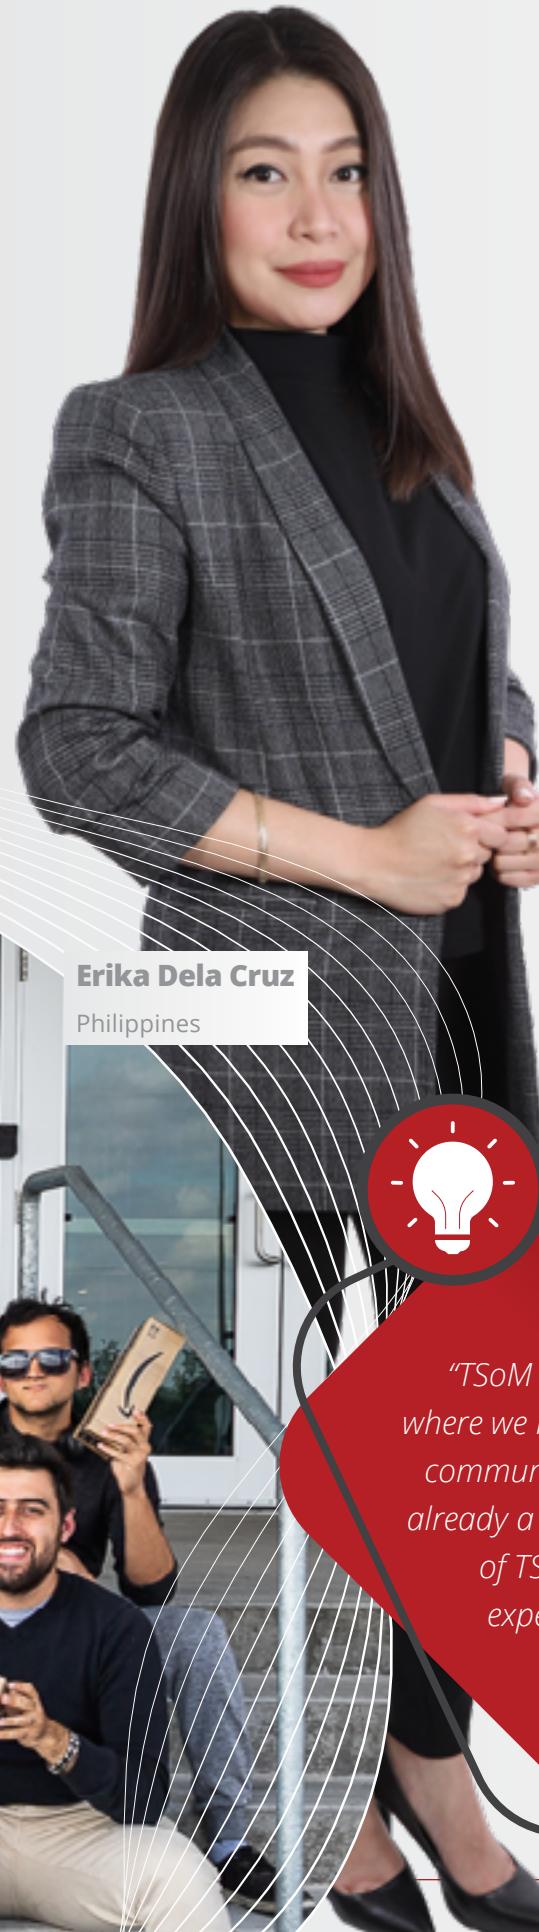

We're pretty nice, after all!

STUDENT LIFE

Work hard and play hard – we believe in a balanced lifestyle.

That's why we're constantly organizing fun activities for our students to get involved in. From informative seminars and networking sessions, to field trips to Amazon and festivities that celebrate Canada's diverse cultures, we make sure that our students get the best opportunities to explore.

Meet Erika.

Erika is the best example of a lifelong learner - technically, she's a professional licensed nurse from the Philippines. However, she tried her hand at being a dedicated flight attendant in Etihad Airways and other Saudi airlines for several years. Erika realized that being in the aviation industry limited her soaring dreams, so she switched gears and worked with an insurance company while figuring out her next steps.

While she eyed a future in Canada and plotted her potential college choices there, her peer told her to apply to TSoM — and it was the remarkable 24-hour turnaround and stellar client service that cemented her decision to study here. It's that personal approach that truly sets TSoM apart.

#TSoMTip

"TSoM provides a lot of activities where we integrate new people into the community so they feel like they are already a part of it. Make being a part of TSoM enrich your college experience, so get involved if you can!"

When Erika arrived in Canada, the new and unfamiliar feeling didn't last long: Student Services was so accommodating she could ask them anything — and she wanted to give back by getting involved. An enthusiastic volunteer and proactive TSoM community member, she's part of TSoM Cafe, and also helped with the school's marketing initiatives where she produced, wrote, and directed segments for TSoM's online channels called 'Tuesday Mornings, Hello Wednesdays, My TSoM, and TSoM Student Explorers.'

Erika's involvement in student events and activities led her to the role of student ambassador. It doesn't stop there: her passion for TSoM, shown evidently during her stint as student ambassador, led to her current position as marketing intern for TSoM. Erika is also an excellent ambassador for a TSoM student's comfortable and smooth transition going onto graduate programs at Niagara College - Toronto. With a scholarship under her belt, Erika continues her academic journey with a graduate certificate in hospitality and tourism. She loves that she can receive a Niagara College credential without moving out of her 'second home' in Toronto, Canada.

Her ultimate goal? To be her own boss. Erika wanted to build her own travel agency in Philippines, but now that she's fallen in love with Toronto, she wants to make all her dreams happen here.

STUDENT LIFE IN CANADA

Meet Pranav.

Hailing from the beautiful country of Mauritius, Pranav chose to leave what many of us would call paradise for a little slice of Canadian heaven.

He knew he wanted to move to the Great White North right after finishing high school, having learned about all the priceless benefits Canada has in store for its citizens: beautiful terrain coast-to-coast, safe and welcoming diverse communities, and quality education with plenty of opportunities to flourish. TSoM was his best choice because of the school's reasonable tuition fees, quality of education, and its student-focused, collaborative culture.

Keen to keep up with an evolving world, Pranav studied Data Analytics and found that it triggered his curiosity to learn more about what it has to offer. He was able to apply it in ways that helped him evolve both personally and professionally. He utilized the soft-skills he learned when he prepped for final group presentations — which was, in fact, his final exam. It was the way TSoM provided him opportunities to interact with his peers that helped him devise and produce a good presentation, apart from the quality of knowledge he was able to apply to the project.

"Use your student benefits and hop on the TTC to check the city out — exploring opens you up for lots of opportunities. And by getting in touch with student services, I was able to volunteer for Scotiabank Toronto Waterfront Marathon and for Wildlands League!"

Meet Dilara.

Dilara comes with experience as vast as the sea. She started her career working at a Turkish maritime agency as a lawyer, negotiating sales contracts for trading ships and yachts, and settling disputes under the jurisdiction of international and maritime law.

Dilara's bright personality didn't go unnoticed from her managers, as her efficiency on serious tasks earned her a scholarship grant by her boss! He told her he'd sponsor her academic endeavours in business for her to further enhance her expertise for the business interactions she'd do on a regular basis.

She took up the opportunity and came here as the pandemic hit, and while she didn't have the opportunity to spend time and adjust to the school in-person, she found great support in helping her mend that gap through TSoM's Student Services. She felt deeply supported by the staff she interacted with, and any time she needed help she was able to get in touch.

#TSoMTip

"The Student Services department was able to help a new person like me feel more familiar and comfortable as I settled in. We are the same in that we are unique, the diversity at TSoM helped me adjust smoothly and made me feel more welcomed than anywhere I have ever lived before, including Finland and Greece."

Sofia Ougortsin

Israel

Meet Sofia.

She's one of us - in more than one way. Like so many students, Sofia wasn't sure about what she wanted to study at first - but then came across TSoM's Diploma in Business Administration Co-op and decided it was the best option.

She felt that she was in good hands with how experienced the faculties are. Their passion and love for their work, and their connection to international students, was easy to see. Canadian immigrants are proud and realize they - like so many before them and to come after them - occupy a land as settlers that sought out a better life. Coming to settle down from Israel, it was easy for her to see that staff and faculty were passionate about helping immigrants settle into their Canadian dream - something she could relate to.

Since she has a versatile diploma, she could go into any industry — but with her experience at TSoM, Sofia fell in love with not just education, but the education sector itself.

As a Recruitment and Operation Manager, Sofia enjoys being able to move through the different stages of the TSoM community as a student and now employee at Global University Systems. She finds satisfaction in knowing that everything she studied, she can apply at the institution itself - and loves that she contributes to helping new immigrants find their place in Canadian society, every day.

"Never stop dreaming. My eyes are set on a much bigger prize: to be a thriving food consultant with the ability to deliver world-class projects."

Alex Baracat

Brazil

Meet Alex.

A TSoM Hospitality and Tourism alumni owned a restaurant back in Brazil and as a restaurateur, he won the 'Best Provincial Restaurant Award 2017.' His passion for food would lead him to Canada, where he experienced the diverse, multi-faceted world of cuisine the country had to offer. After discovering the Co-op program at TSoM that matched his passion, he promptly made his way to Toronto and started working as a part-time line cook at Hotel X and worked his way up as a Head Chef of Lobby Restaurant + Lounge in North Vancouver. What's more, he's completely immersed as a Canadian, with his permanent residency status now at the palm of his hands. Now that his dreams are coming true, he continues to set newer goals to conquer. Apart from his latest venture, Brazil Box - a new snack shop in Toronto where he also serves as the chef - he is also currently working on his certification as a Red Seal Chef which requires 8,000 hours of experience.

#TSoMTip

"Don't be afraid of taking on something unfamiliar. I come from a Political Science background, and I thought that Cybersecurity would be super technical - which is normal. While it is, I discovered that all you truly need is focus and commitment."

Meet Consuelo.

A global citizen that has taken strides in her career, Consuelo's evolution as a professional is indeed an exceptional one. Wearing many hats in the world of education, Consuelo is no stranger to stellar academics and international studies. With her eyes always set on exploring new horizons, she had her first experience studying abroad in the Netherlands, at the Hague Academy of International Law - a United Nations school. Once she finished up there, she traveled to Spain and pursued her master's degree in International Relations, Security, and Development at Univertisà Autònoma de Barcelona.

A former professor herself, she taught at Tecnológico de Monterrey, a university widely considered the MIT of Mexico, but a private institution like TSoM. With an additional academic background in International Relations with a major in Terrorism and International Security, she taught in the areas of ethics, social responsibility and citizenship.

Gaining sufficient experience in such a career path, Consuelo decided she wanted a change and good quality of life. A quick plane ride away from Mexico City, Canada was a great option - but what really pushed her to Canada was the Cybersecurity program at TSoM.

You might be wondering what compelled such a talented individual who already has an extensive educational background and experience to study again, let alone in the tech sector; Consuelo's story is a testament to the importance of digital adaptation. Her parents are entrepreneurs, and started a family-owned and operated company. As the company started to grow and expand its digital operations, Consuelo and her family suddenly faced a new threat: a hacker that stole company information and intellectual property and almost bankrupted her company. Thankfully, with the help of lawyers, they were able to reverse the damage done.

That's when Consuelo learned about patents, IP rights, innovation management, tech management, and the legal boundaries of an organization - because it is absolutely related to the information security of any company in any sector. With a sense of duty, she quickly fell in love with everything cybersecurity, from encryption to penetration testing, and uses her newfound knowledge and abilities to protect her family assets.

Meet Dan.

A professional with 20 years under his belt, Dan moved all the way to Toronto from Romania in 2012. He was able to secure a job at Siemens - the largest industrial manufacturing company in Europe - and takes care of two business units within it. Out of his 20 years as a professional, he's had a 14 year stint with this multimillion dollar company. So what else, you would think, could he desire more?

The ambitious always set their goals high. Thanks to TSoM's wide variety of academic programs such as the Preparatory Course for ACCA Examination, he was able to complete his accounting accolades, especially since he already started the ACCA qualification. He decided to dive into the program in 2019, and found that it wasn't a daunting experience since he didn't have to start from scratch. Dan quickly discovered that employees want Canadian experience in the country's job market – and thankfully, the ACCA offers this recognition.

After this, what's next for Dan? He plans to take advantage of TSoM's Academic Pathway to pursue his MBA at University Canada West next.
